TD Bank USA, N.A. is a wholly-owned, indirect subsidiary of The Toronto-Dominion Bank. TD Bank USA, N.A., and TD Ameritrade Trust Company are affiliated through their parent companies. The Bank determines the interest rate paid to participants on funds deposited into the Institutional MMDA.

²The Bank uses Institutional MMDA balances to fund current and new investment and lending activity. The Bank seeks to make a profit by achieving a positive spread between its cost of funds (i.e. deposits) and its return on assets, net of expenses. TD Ameritrade Trust Company may receive a fee from the Bank for marketing, recordkeeping, and support services in connection with the Institutional MMDA. In exchange for providing these services, the Bank pays TD Ameritrade Trust Company an aggregate marketing fee based on the weighted average yield earned on the client IDA balances, less the actual interest paid to clients, a servicing fee to the Bank of 25 basis points (subject to adjustment) and the cost of FDIC insurance premiums. TD Ameritrade Trust Company has the right to waive all or part of the fee it receives. The rate of the fee that TD Ameritrade Trust Company receives may exceed the interest rate or effective yield that clients receive in balances in the Institutional MMDAs, and the payment of the fee may reduce the yield that clients receive. Other than the applicable fees charged on plan custody accounts, there will be no charges, fees, or commissions imposed on the Account for the inclusion of the Institutional MMDA in the plan. The current Institutional MMDA interest rate will be disclosed on the TD Ameritrade Trust Company website and may be changed without prior notice.

³Please note that the Institutional MMDA is not available as an option for 403(b)(7) plans.
